Live the Liturgy - Inspiration for the Week

In response to how the Pharisees and scribes lived their faith, Jesus said, "This people honors Me with their lips, but their hearts are far from Me." Both good and evil impulses come from our hearts. Which one has the upper hand depends on how well a person has taken on the mind and heart of God. How well we live our faith is determined by the same. As Pope Francis tells us, Jesus is present in all of our brothers and sisters, especially those who endure suffering like His own. Our world is full of tragedy, conflict, and suffering: slave labor, diseases, wars, terrorism, exploitation, famine, human trafficking. We cannot simply pay lip service to the evils of the world! We must act!

Church Repairs

Over the next few weeks, repairs will be made to masonry and flashing at the front entry and the south gable of the church. These repairs, which were identified in a condition study of the church's roof carried out by Bero Architecture last year, will help maintain the soundness of the building's exterior. In addition, the contractor will inspect the small domes on the north side of the tower to determine the cause of an interior leak. This important work is being supported with a generous donation of $20,000 from the Friends of St. Stanislaus Foundation. We are grateful for the foundation's support for the care of our church. Scaffolding will be needed but should create only minor inconvenience. Thank you for your patience as the work is being done.

Labor Day

Good and Gracious God, You created human beings in Your image and likeness And gave us dominion over creation to be stewards of the land and co-creators of Your Kingdom. Jesus, You became one of us and labored as a carpenter. You ask all people -- whatever our state of life -- to follow You faithfully. Holy Spirit, bless all workers this Labor Day. May all our actions be animated by Your love, as we do all things for the glory of God. Amen.

22nd Sunday in Ordinary Time

Judgment tends to have a bad reputation. We often associate it with condemnation, and in the Gospels, we associate it with the Pharisees. Today's Gospel features the Pharisees doing exactly what we expect. "They observed that some of His disciples ate their meals with unclean, that is, unwashed, hands." The Jewish people had strict purification laws that applied to all areas of life. The Pharisees attempt to accuse Jesus of not following the ancestral traditions. Jesus doesn't take offense at their judgments per se. He instead points out the hypocrisy of their words. "You hypocrites, this people honors Me with their lips, but their hearts are far from Me."

From there, Jesus turns His attention to the concerns of the heart. "The things that come from within are what defile." He lists off a number of sins, including some the Pharisees were likely struggling with, including evil thoughts, envy, and arrogance. When we examine the list, perhaps we're reminded of our own trips to the confessional! As we strive to follow Jesus and live with integrity, we must be aware of our hearts. We must judge our own actions. Are they leading us closer to God or away from Him? Are we growing in love of our neighbor, or are we becoming more closed in on ourselves?

As we move into this week, consider the state of our own heart. Perhaps you are overly scrupulous in less important areas. Perhaps there are large areas of overlooked sin that you've excused for too long. Whatever it is, the judgment of God need not cripple us. He offers us a share in His Mercy as soon as we turn to Him. This week, allow your heart to be transformed!

Why Do We Do That? Catholic Life Explained

Question: As we celebrate Labor Day, can you tell me about Catholic teaching regarding labor?

Answer: One of the most important principles of Catholic social teaching is the dignity of work and the rights of workers. Four encyclicals address this foundational social teaching: Rerum Novarum (1891) by Leo XIII, Quadragesimo Anno (1931) by Pius XI, Laborem Exercens (1981), and Centesimus Annus (1991) by John Paul II. They address both the theology and dignity of work. In Genesis, God takes the initiative in creating the world, calling forth human beings to be faithful stewards of creation. We are thus formed to share in God's continuing creative activity by partnering with God in finishing the world and helping bring it to completion and fulfillment. From this perspective, work can be spiritually understood in terms of sharing in God's ongoing activity to build, create, and transform the world. Human beings are co-creators with God. This vocation demands self-discipline.

Besides an exercise in self-discipline, work is also the means by which we develop and fulfill ourselves. In work, we shape the world and our environment. Through work, we also shape ourselves. Pope John Paul II summarized this point in Laborem Exercens #6, "the value of work is not primarily the kind of work being done, but the fact that the one who is doing it is a person."

Labor Day offers an excellent opportunity to reflect on how we view work in light of our Catholic social teaching.

Everyday Stewardship

Recognize God in Your Ordinary Moments

Justice is a concept under attack in today's world. When I watch the news, I see so many distortions of justice. One person's notion of fairness is sometimes far from another's understanding of justice. Perhaps the issue is that human justice often becomes corrupted by selfishness and greed. Justice for one's self always seems more important than justice for another. As disciples of Jesus Christ, we are called to use what we have been given not only to fight for human justice alone, but also to offer a more benevolent justice that can only come from God.

We are called to offer all we have to God for His greater intentions. Our gifts cannot only level the playing field for some but can serve as instruments of grace for those who, in the eyes of the world, do not even deserve it. In God's framework of justice, second chances and overflowing generosity are commonplace. Everyone created in the image of God deserves love regardless of their state in life or the actions they have taken against another. The world will never understand this type of justice. Humans have a hard enough time figuring out the simple concepts of equity or fair play. For those who do not believe in Jesus, His justice seems even more difficult to comprehend.

XXII Niedziela Zwykła

Słowo Boże przeznaczone na dzisiejszą niedzielę przypomina nam o potrzebie zachowania prawa Bożego oraz przestrzega przed formalizmem w zachowywaniu przepisów prawa ludzkiego. Jezus uczy, iż pomiędzy prawem Bożym i ludzkim powinna istnieć harmonia, a na życie trzeba patrzeć po Bożemu. Jego zdaniem nie można uchylać przykazań Bożych, a trzymać się tradycji. Najważniejsze jest wprowadzać słowo w czyn, czyli żyć według Bożych przykazań, które są darem Bożej mądrości i miłości. W naszym ziemskim życiu nie ma nic stałego. Wszystko podlega zmianom. Najbardziej widoczne są te zmiany, które następują w przepływie świata. Nawet duch człowieka nie jest wolny od fatum zmienności. To przecież do spraw ducha odnosi się przestroga apostoła: „Kto stoi, niech baczy, aby nie upadł). Nikt z nas nie może być pewny siebie samego. Sprawiedliwy bowiem może stać się niesprawiedliwym, mądry może zgłupieć, a dobry i święty może zgrzeszyć. Na szczęście możliwe są również zmiany w odwrotnym kierunku. Człowiek niesprawiedliwy może podjąć służbę sprawiedliwości, głupi może doznać oświecenia, a grzesznik może się nawrócić.
